DUBAI — the first Arab Training Congress 2006 will be organised in Dubai from July 17 to 21 under the patronage of the UNDP.

The training congress will discuss a number of issues aimed at improving the performance of training departments in the Arab world.

Dr Khaled Aloush, UNDP representative in the UAE, said the congress will discuss issues such as the role of training departments as well as sustainable development programmes.

The congress will help enhance the skills of the training staff who formulate plans and training budgets.

A total of 70 participants would include training managers in Gulf Countries, Sudan, Libya and Algeria.
